

Examples of Common Chord Patterns

Here's is a small sample of songs that use Common Chord Patterns. You may find broken links. I'm not always able to catch them as the videos get taken down or stop working.

Note: I'm using the Roman Numeral system because it indicates which chords are major and which are minor. If you'd like help with this I've created a quick easy lesson at:

The Roman Numeral System Explained

- I - IV - V
 - Best Friends Girl The Cars
 - The verse of Good Riddance by Green Day, and the entirety of Stir it Up by Bob Marley.
 - Twist And Shout (Beatles) just about the entire song
 - Like A Rolling Stone chorus (Bob Dylan)
 - 12 bar blues which goes: I – I – I – I – IV – IV – I – I – V – IV – I – V.
 - Many “Chuck Berry” style rock and roll songs use a variation of the 12 Bar Blues pattern
- I – IV – V – IV which allows us to play songs like
 - Louie Louie by Richard Berry (a big hit for the Kingsmen)
 - Wild Thing by The Troggs
 - La Bamba
 - Bad Moon Rising (Creedance Clearwater Revival)
- I - V - iv - VI
 - I'm Yours (Jason Mraz)
 - The verse of Your Beautiful (James Blunt)
 - Down Under (Men At Work) (?)
 - When I Come Around (Green Day)
 - The verse of Don't Stop Believing (Journey)
 - Where's The Love (Black Eyed Peas)
 - Can You Feel The Love Tonight (Elton John)
 - Hey Soul Sister-verse (Train)
 - Take Me Home Country Roads chorus (John Denver)

- Paparazzi (Lady Gaga)
- With Or Without You (U2)
- She Will Be Loved (Maroon 5)
- Let It Be (Beatles)
- No Woman No Cry (Bob Marley)
- Someone Like You-chorus (Adele)
- I - vi - IV - V (50's Progression)
 - This Boy (Beatles)
 - Donna (Ritchie Valens)
 - Sherry Baby (Frankie Valli & The Four Seasons)
 - The Wonder of You (Elvis)
 - Blue Moon (The Marcels)
 - Stand By Me by Ben E. King,
 - verse of (All day long they work so hard...) Chain Gang by Sam Cooke
 - verse of Unchained Melody made popular by The Righteous Brothers.
 - Many modern pop songs also use the 50s progression; example: Beautiful Girls by Sean Kingston
 - the chorus of What About Now by Daughtry
 - Friday by Rebecca Black.
- vi - IV - I - V
 - Beginning with A minor chord... sounds darker or sadder than the other four progressions.
 - verse and chorus of Zombie by The Cranberries
 - the chorus of Africa by Toto
 - Apologize by OneRepublic
 - Cheap Thrills by Sia
 - the chorus of Numb by Linkin Park.

Andalusian Cadence i–VII–VI–V (minor key)

This chord progression is popular. It can be found in songs such as :

- Hit the Road Jack (Ray Charles)
- Stray Cat Strut (Stray Cats)
- Don't Let Me Be Misunderstood (The Animals)
- Walk Don't Run (The Ventures)
